South Carolina State Report Card

State and federal laws require public schools to release report cards to the public each year. This year, the report card has been updated to reflect changes in reporting directed by the SC Education Oversight Committee. Schools will not be rated for state accountability purposes until Fall 2017 when the state will transition to a single accountability system. The following reports student performance in school year 2014-15.

WORLD CLASS SKILLS & LIFE AND CAREER CHARACTERISTICS

Our school is helping all students develop the world class skills and life and career characteristics of the Profile of the Graduate by ...

This year, 2014-2015, Carver-Edisto Middle School earned the South Carolina Palmetto Silver Award for the fourth straight year. Teachers, students, and parents can be proud of a job well done. Initiatives this year were spearheaded by the "Profile of the South Carolina Graduate" created to serve as a guidepost for public education. To this end teachers worked together to develop standards based curriculums grounded on rigorous world class knowledge and skills infused with critical life and career traits. Teachers began this work by assessing student data. This information assisted teachers in planning curriculum. All students take a math, science, social studies and English Language Arts class. Literacy skills are embedded in all classes. Twelve teachers have been a part of a grant funded by Boeing to infuse literacy strategies in science and math classes. Academically gifted students take more rigorous courses, including English 1 and Algebra 1 Honors. Students have the opportunity to take a variety of science, technology, engineering, arts, and math (STEAM) classes. These include Medical Detectives, Coding, Robotics, Computer Science, Science of the Technologies and Environment, and Pre-Engineering. In addition, a variety of fine arts classes are offered. Collectively, these courses offer students a variety of learning opportunities connected to career goals. Best practice demands that students be given the opportunity to be creative, solve problems, work together in teams, and learn to think; skills crucial to success in the workplace. This year a team of six teachers participated in Project Based Learning training sponsored by SREB. Second semester they implemented PBL in their classrooms. PBL demands that students use the skills needed for success on the job. The program was hugely successful and will be expanded next year. High levels of knowledge and skills are required in all careers. Equally important to success in work and in life is the mastery of positive personal and interpersonal traits. These traits must be taught. All students participate in "Life Skills" training and all seventh and eighth grade students take a course, "It's Your Game", that teaches decision making skills. These courses plus participation in organized activities such as Beta Club, National Junior Honor Society, sports and fine arts helps students learn these critical life skills. These opportunities provide a foundation for the knowledge and skills students will need to be successful in their future. Jeannie Monson, Ph.D., Principal Mark Whetstone, SIC Chair

* 21st Century core courses in Social Sciences include History, Geography, Economics, Government and Civics.
